Dear Mr. Tobias,

On August 17, 2018, the U.S. Department of the Interior, Office of the Solicitor, received your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. In your request, you specifically ask for:

"Any and all written communications, including attachments, between Daniel Jorjani and any agent, representative or employee of the law and lobbying firm Lucas Compton. This request also seeks all communications between Jorjani and any email address that ends in @lucas-compton.com. This request also seeks a copy of the "regulatory reform package regarding Section 10(a) permits" that Lucas Compton employee Mike Weaver transmitted to Mr. Jorjani in 2017."

In response to your letter, the Office of the Solicitor searched its records and found 25 pages responsive to your request. Upon review, the Office of the Solicitor has decided to release to you 9 pages in full and 16 pages in part. The pages being released in part were redacted pursuant to Exemption 6 which protects personal privacy interests. Please see the documents attached.

Personnel and Medical Files

Exemption 6 allows an agency to withhold "personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy." 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(6).

The phrase "similar files" covers any agency records containing information about a particular individual that can be identified as applying to that individual. To determine whether releasing records containing information about a particular individual would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, we are required to balance the privacy interest that would be affected by disclosure against any public interest in the information.

Under the FOIA, the only relevant public interest to consider under the exemption is the extent to which the information sought would shed light on an agency's performance of its statutory duties or otherwise let citizens 'know what their government is up to. The burden is on the requester to establish that disclosure would serve the public interest. When the privacy interest at stake and the public interest in disclosure have been determined, the two competing interests must be weighed against one another to determine which is the greater result of disclosure: the harm to personal privacy or the benefit to the public. The purposes for which the request for information is made do not impact this balancing test, as a release of information requested under the FOIA constitutes a release to the general public.

The information that has been withheld under Exemption 6 consists of personal information, cellular phone numbers, and we have determined that the individuals who this information pertains to have a substantial privacy interest in withholding it.

Lance Purvis, FOIA Officer, Office of the Solicitor, is responsible for making this decision. You may contact our FOIA Officer at sol.foia@sol.doi.gov for further assistance and to discuss any aspect of your request.

This concludes the Office of the Solicitor's response to your request. The fee incurred in responding to your request is less than $50 and is not being charged in accordance with 43 CFR 2.16(b)(2).

If you consider this response to be a denial of your request, you may appeal this response to the Department's FOIA Appeals Officer. If you choose to appeal, the FOIA Appeals Officer must receive your FOIA appeal no later than 90 workdays from the date of this letter. Appeals arriving or delivered after 5 p.m. Eastern Time, Monday through Friday, will be deemed received on the next workday. Your appeal must be in writing and addressed to:
